ATTORNEY 'S APPLICATION FOR COMPENSATION

To: The Honorable Helen Elizabeth Burris , US Bankruptcy Judge

Comes now Robert H. Cooper, Esquire, in an effort to provide pertinent information required by the Bankruptcy Reform Acts of 1994 and 2005, and to disclose those facts relevant to allow the United States Trustee to determine whether or not the requested fees represent a proper award under §330 of the Bankruptcy Code, which is his duty under 28 U.S.C. §586(a)(3)(A) as amended by the aforementioned Reform Acts.

This application along with the attached time line information does in this attorney's opinion disclose the following facts necessary for the United States Trustee to make his determination.

1. The time spent on the services rendered;
2. The rates charged for the services;
3. That the services were necessary to the administration of the case at the time the services were rendered;
4. That the services were directed toward the completion of a case under Title 11;
5. That the services were performed within a reasonable period of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed;
6. That the requested compensation is reasonable based on the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners in cases other than cases under Title 11.

NARRATIVE SUMMARY

INFORMATION REGARDING DEBTOR

The debtor-in-possession, Grady Franklin Moore II, is married, and resides at 115 Rockcove Court, Moore, SC 29369. The couple's primary residence is deeded in the non-filing spouse's name only, and not in Grady's name. Grady filed a chapter 11 bankruptcy on October 21, 2008, in an effort to reorganize his financial commitments. As is reflected in the schedules filed with the Bankruptcy Court, the debtor owns several residential real properties. His intention had been to rent those, and take advantage of their appreciation in value over a period of time. However, Grady did not foresee the considerable downturn in the real estate market, and the economy. Grady had purchased those properties at foreclosure sales. His main business for twenty five years prior to filing chapter 11 had been Moore Builders in which he was a residential builder. Other names he was known by included "Moore Home Improvements", "Moore Builders", and "Moore Builders and Home Improvements". Approximately two years prior to his filing bankruptcy, Grady's business began slowing. It appeared that no matter what he tried, it continued to get worse. As the economy worsened so did Grady's residential building. He was unable to get sufficient contracts to fund the business and his household. He was unable to procure purchasers for his real properties, and he could not keep them occupied with paying tenants. Grady could not borrow money from banks to help him financially until the economy improved, and he began being sued by creditors. By the time he filed chapter 11 on October 21, 2008, he had been sued by approximately a dozen major creditors. Just prior to filing bankruptcy, Grady closed Moore Builders. Grady had in 2001 and 2002 been engaged in "D & G" Motors in which he purchased wholesale vehicles for resale. He had considered getting back into that business; however, the market was very negative in that line of business. Another of Grady's businesses he started in the year 2000 was "Investors Unlimited, Inc.", which he began for the purpose of placing residential rental properties in its name in order to rent those. However, it never "got off the ground", because lenders preferred to deed the properties in Grady's name personally rather than in the name of a corporation. That business has been inactive for several years with Grady simply paying the annual state administrative fees for the corporation to continue to exist.

Approximately six months prior to the filing of the chapter 11 Grady became employed in his older son's business known as "Carolina Granite". His wife conducted sales and management at that business, and became successful. Since Grady had been in the construction industry for over twenty five years, he believed he might have an opportunity to succeed in this type business as an estimator/installer. Grady has no ownership interest in this business.

At the time of the filing of his chapter 11 reorganization, the debtor's schedules filed with the Bankruptcy Court reflected secured debt in the approximate amount of $985,427 with unsecured debt approximating $758,588. Schedules further reflect the value of real property owned by the debtor approximated $884,000. The value of personal property as reflected in his schedules approximates $79,459. Although Grady had hoped to rebuild his residential building and remodeling business, economic and market conditions indicate this would not be a prudent time to do so.

Grady feels that the granite industry can flourish, since homeowners desire to switch from formica to granite. He, therefore, intends to surrender the residential rental properties he currently owns, and proposes to pay a percentage of each unsecured creditor's allowed claim without interest in equal monthly installments over a period of 60 months.

The Debtor-in-Possession has already begun undertaking measures in which to increase profits to successfully fund the plan, and asks for the cooperation of his creditors in this time of reorganization.

The status of the debtor's estate is good at this point, and he plans to continue in the business which he has maintained for the past twenty years, and hope the economy improves.

Total fees sought equal $15,000 with the debtor thus far having paid the amount $15,000 in fees in addition to the $1039 filing fee at the start of the case. Those fees were billed at the contractually agreed upon fee of $295 per hour for attorney, $195 per hour for associate attorney, and $95 per hour for paralegal. The attorney has practiced bankruptcy law and procedure for 19 years, and has handled thousands of consumer cases, and in excess of two hundred Chapter 11 cases during that period. Paralegal, Marie Cooper, held a juris doctorate throughout a portion of this case, and had been employed with The Cooper Law Firm for fifteen years as a paralegal and its office manager. On December 12, 2008, she was admitted to the SC Bar. Therefore, her work on this case prior to that date will be billed at the firm's paralegal rate of $95 per hour, and for her work after that date, the firm will bill at $195 per hour.

The Applicant (Robert H. Cooper) filed the bankruptcy in an attempt to assist the debtors in the reorganization of their financial commitments. Chapter 7 was offered multiple times as a remedy; however, the debtors chose the reorganization.

The present application for fees is a final application. No prior interim application has been filed. The Applicant often files only a final application so that the Debtor can use his liquid assets to fund the reorganization first, and then upon successful confirmation of the Plan, the Applicant seeks approval of fees, both held and requested. The Debtor, his creditors, and the U.S. Trustee are being served notice of the fee application. Additionally, the debtor is being served a copy of the actual fee application. The time period for the services rendered and continuing to be rendered are from October 21, 2008, upon the filing of the case to December 7, 2009, which is the date of the filing of this Fee Application. Barring unforeseen circumstances, the attorney does not intend to seek additional compensation from the Debtor in this case.
